THE verdict of the coroner's jury rendered in the case of Rosa Johnson, an inmate of Mollie Weaver's house, 216 Plum street, who was delivered of a fetus (a five month's gestation) and died covered last Wednesday, was "death from premature birth; and we further find there was no criminal act committed with said birth."

CHAS. VANCE, a bad boy, entered the saloon of B. Buddick, corner Clark and Freeman, last night, raised a ruckus and was ejected. He threw a brick through one of the glass doors and skipped. When a half square away he took a tumble and broke his leg. He is now in the hospital. Buddick didn't shed a tear at his mishap.

WHERE there is a weakness of the throat or lungs, a neglected cold may be all that is required to establish a lingering and general fatal disease. Even where there is no special tendency to bronchial or pulmonary trouble, a severe cold, left to take care of itself, often plants the seeds of a serious complaint, sure to be developed by subsequent indiscretions. Take especial care of your health, therefore, from the very earliest symptoms of a cough or cold, by prudently resorting to Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, which will soothe and strengthen the bronchial tubes, allay inflammation and cleanse them and the lungs of all irritating substances. An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure.

THE city's ten-acre possession on Mt. Auburn, known as the Burnett Lot, has been levied on for a judgment of $48,000, obtained against the city by Long, Krueger & Long, assignees, on account of a

At 8 o'clock this morning her funeral with solemn mass took place at St. Xavier's Church on Sycamore, attended by a multitude of relatives, friends and acquaintances, who loved her for her many charities and warm hospitality.

WHILE Col. Harry G. Armstrong, of the Gazette, Capt. Batchelor, Col. Nick Roberts, Tom Kilkenny (can't we call Tom Major?), and others, were conversing at the Walnut-street House the other evening on the subject of the duplicate Mardi Gras treasury, Roberts became angry at some words spoken by Armstrong, and dealt him a vigorous blow on the snout, which caused the claret to flow in abundance. The other gentlemen interfered and a tragedy ensued.

LAST Saturday night Mrs. George Adams, living in Colerain Township, came near losing her life by a strange accident. She had gone to the well in the back-yard for the purpose of getting some water, when the ground surrounding the well for the distance of eight or ten feet suddenly gave way, and she was precipitated into the water. A large tree standing near the well also fell, and Mrs. Adams would undoubtedly have attended and brought out the family, who at once rescued her, considerably bruised and very much frightened.

The Allen Murder.

Coroner Maley visited the old home of Jake Allen, the man who was murdered in Turkey Bottom last Wednesday. In examining the house he found a bull's-eye watch, $100 in money of ante-war times, and two hatchets covered with blood. He also learned that on the night of the murder Allen took supper at the house of J. Flernan, a neighbor.

He left at 9 o'clock, saying he was afraid to go home, as he had been attacked four times by some unknown persons. He said that one night when his niece, Emma Harlow, of Williamsburg, was stopping with him, somebody tried to chloroform him while he was in bed. He believed it was a woman dressed in men's clothes.

Dr. Maley finds that the suspicious land that neighborhood point to Mrs. Mahalia Brown as the murderess.

Capture of an Express Robber.

On the 18th of December, 1875, an Express robbery occurred on the Kansas & Pacific Railroad, near St. Louis. The robbers obtained a large amount of money from the U. S. Express Company. Some time afterwards one of the band was caught, convicted, and is now in the Penitentiary. A day or two ago J. J. Henderson, Superintendent of the U. S. Express Company in this city, received information from Mr. Ham Best, that one of this gang was living at Mainville, a town a few miles back of Foster's Station, on the Little Miami Road.

In company with Detective Steve Mead, Mr. Henderson visited Mainville Saturday, and driving out to the house of H. V. Bonds, they found the man they wanted. His name is Edward Deal, but he had been living there under the assumed name of Green. Placing him in irons, they brought him to the city and looked him up. Mr. E. D. Lookwood, who, at the time of the robbery, was running as messenger on the train, identified Deal as the right party. Last night he was taken to St. Louis by Detective Steve Mead.

Not until Monday, March 13, will this famous minstrel organization appear in our city. We are thus explicit in announcing the exact date for the purpose of correcting the impression that has erroneously gained ground in our midst that they would begin their engagement at an earlier date.
